LONGITUDINAL STUDY OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN: VICTIMIZATION
AND PERPETRATION AMONG COLLEGE STUDENTS IN A STATE-SUPPORTED
UNIVERSITY IN THE UNITED STATES, 1990-1995 (ICPSR 3212)

SUMMARY: The purpose of this study was to investigate longitudinally the developmental antecedents of physical and sexual violence against young women, using a theoretically based multicausal model that included characteristics related to the victim, the perpetrator, and the environment. The researchers used a classic longitudinal design, replicated over two cohorts (those born in 1972 and 1973), each assessed first when 18 years old, and again when 19, 20, 21, and 22 years old. The first survey (Part 1, Female Data) collected information on the respondent's experiences of sexual assault from age 14 to the present (age 18). Other questions focused on the kind of person the respondent thought she was; how much of an influence religion had on the way she chose to spend each day; her dating behavior during high school; the number of times the respondent had used behavior such as discussing issues relatively calmly, arguing, sulking, stomping out of the room, or threatening to hit, with a romantic partner during high school; and how frequently romantic partners used these types of behavior with the respondent. Other items elicited information on the number of women the respondent knew who had been sexually victimized, whether men forced them to engage in sexual activities, the nature of the respondent's sexual experience from the time she was 14 to the present, the respondent's age when each experience occurred, if the respondent or the other person was using drugs or alcohol when it happened, if the respondent was injured, and whom the respondent told about the experience. Information was collected on sexual abuse prior to the age of 14 as well. The respondent was also asked to describe how often her parents or stepparents had administered physical blows (i.e., hitting, kicking, throwing someone down); whether someone had fondled her in a sexual way; whether a male had attempted intercourse with the respondent; the relationship between the respondent and the perpetrator; the respondent's age when the experience occurred; who the other person was; who initiated the date or paid for the food, drinks, or tickets; whether the respondent or the other person was using drugs or alcohol; the respondent's opinions about men and women in America (i.e., if the respondent agreed or disagreed that chivalrous gestures toward women on the part of men should be encouraged); whether the respondent had engaged in sexual intercourse when she did not want to because a male threatened or used some degree of physical force (twisting her arm, holding her down, etc.); and the respondent's drug and alcohol use. The subsequent surveys contained measures of sexual assault during each year of college (i.e., since the previous survey). Questions asked in subsequent surveys were similar to those in the first survey, and the responses are all included in Part 1. Questions posed to males (Part 2, Male Data) included the number of women the respondent had sexual intercourse with, how often the respondent heard talk that speculated how a particular woman would be in bed, reasons the respondent engaged in sexual activity, number of times the respondent engaged in sexual intercourse when a woman didn't want to, and questions similar to those in Part 1 with the respondent as the perpetrator. Demographic information in Part 1 and Part 2 describes the female or the male respondent's education, race, religious preference, sexual orientation, and marital or relationship status.

UNIVERSE: Undergraduate women and men in a state-supported university in the United States.

SAMPLING: Convenience sampling.

ICPSR CODEBOOK NOTES

ICPSR blanked the variables DAYOB in Part 1 and DOB in Part 2, and recoded the variables RACE, RACEWHO3, RACEWHO4 in Part 1 and RACE, RACEWHO3, RACEWHO4, and RACEWHO5 in Part 2 for confidentiality purposes.

ICPSR combined existing 9-series codes with system missing, and labeled the code "Missing," and declared it a missing value. Also ICPSR declared code 3, 4, 5, or 7, which were labeled "Don't know," a missing value if it was not done so by the principal investigators. ICPSR also declared code 0 which was labeled "No response" a missing value. Therefore, all of these missing value categories are counted as missing data in the Data Completeness Report.

ICPSR was unable to verify some undocumented codes for some variables for both parts. Thus these codes were labeled "Undoc."

ICPSR was unable to obtain value labels for codes 1 to 5 for character variable RELHARM in Part 2. The variable was left unlabeled except code "S" which was labeled by the principal investigators.

For the variable KOSS94A5 in Part 1, the principal investigators requested that ICPSR use the same value labels as for the variable KOSS92A2. However, ICPSR noticed the coding differences between these two variables and thus labeled undocumented codes 12 to 55 for the variable KOSS94A5 as "Undoc."

Variable labels start with Roman numerals I to V to indicate the survey wave when the question was asked.

The following abbreviation is used in data definition statements and codebook for Part 1.

CTS = Conflict Tactics Scale

- 2 = Black, Nonhispanic
- 3 = Hispanic
- 4 = Asian or Pacific Islander
- 5 = American Indian or Alaskan Native

These questions below ask you to say what kind of a person you think you are. For example, here is a sentence: "I watch TV all the time." If you watch TV all the time, that sentence is very much like you. If you watch TV a lot, then the sentence is mostly like you. Or you may watch TV only a little bit--then the sentence is a little like you.

(90)(91)(92)

- 0 = No Response
- 1 = Not at all like me
- 2 = A little like me
- 3 = Somewhat like me
- 4 = Mostly like me
- 5 = Very much like me

TOUGH I am able to do tough things by myself if I have to and I don't need other people to help me or tell me what to do.

GREATEST I feel that "I'm the greatest" and better than other people.

EMOT I am very emotional. (That means my feelings get stirred up easily.)

BRAG I brag a lot about myself and what I do.

BUSY I am very busy and active.

CENTER I am a self-centered person. I want things to go my way.

ALTRUE I really like to do things for other people.

ROUGH I am NOT very gentle.

HELPFUL I am very helpful to other people.

CONTESTS I enjoy trying to win games and contests.

GREED I am a greedy person.

MEAN I am NOT very kind to other people.

BOSSY I am a bossy person.

NOEMPATH I don't pay much attention to how other people are feeling.

INDECIS When I have to decide about something important, it's hard for me to make up my mind.

GIVEUP I give up very easily.

NOTRUST Most people are out for themselves. I don't trust them very much.

CONFIDEN	I feel sure I can do most of the things I try.
NUMONE	I remind myself that I'm "number one" and have to look out for myself first.
BETTER	I am better at doing most things than other people.
REVENGE	Lots of times people are out to do me wrong and I try to pay them back.
EMPATH	I try to understand how other people are feeling.
FRIENDLY	I am a very warm, friendly person.
FLUSTER	When I'm in a tough spot, I get very bothered and don't know what to do.

For the next set of items, indicate how many times in the last year you have done each, using:
(90)(91)(92)

- 0 = No Response
- 1 = Never
- 2 = 1 to 3 times
- 3 = 4 to 5 times
- 4 = 6 to 10 times
- 5 = More than 10 times

How many times in the last year have you:

DAMAGE	Purposely damaged or destroyed property that did not belong to you.
GOODS	Knowingly bought, sold or held stolen goods (or tried to do any of these things).

No matter how well a family gets along, there are times when the members disagree, get annoyed about something another person does, or have spats or fights because they're in a bad mood or for some other reason. A family may also use different ways to settle their differences. Listed below are some things your parents, step-parents or guardians may have done.

First, rate how many times in an average month your mother (or step-mother or female guardian) has done any of these things prior to the age of 14.

Second, rate how many times your father (or step-father or male guardian) has done any of these things in an average month prior to the age of 14.

For each set of ratings, please indicate your relationship with the person being rated. Choose the person you lived with the most prior to age 14.
